

Hello Bear Lake Fishermen Extraordinaire,

Time once again to pull out the spring fishing catalogs and dream of the pleasures of fishing in the clear Canadian waters. Recently several people were discussing fishing, and one of those involved in the conversation knew about our trip. He mentioned our adventure and soon the conversation turned to our rustic setting and the number of years we have been together. Everyone agreed that it is very special to have this type of camaraderie last through the all the years. I agree; in fact as I have mentioned before, the trip with the group has become more important than the fishing.

Miracle of miracles, Bob Taylor (bbtaylor@joink.com) is now on the net and he has a new camera that can add video to the computer. Now if someone can be on hand to catch his next great leap to the dock. I spoke to Jack Harding and he is already plotting ways to keep the keg cold for the week. Vaughn, I am not certain if this is good news. Sure does taste better. Eh guys? I would suggest we make it part of the party on dog shit island, but perhaps limit the intake. The same comment regarding intake will apply to Garland's famous brew; a little goes a long way. Several of the young and foolish have learned that lesson. No names mentioned. I have the Championship Euchre Cup, but still need to engrave it. I will take care of this prior to the trip; however, I need Jack to email his exact instructions for the engraving. Jim has convinced me to fly fish for salmon; I might bring my new rod along to fish for small mouth bass. Probably lots of fun, but might take away from the time needed to bag the largest. It is ironic that Tom Kline's least favorite lake continues to produce the biggest largemouth bass. So Tom, will you make that trek this year?

Our trip will begin on July 26th. We will need to choose a different meeting place, Dorothy has sold her place and her new condo does not provide enough parking. We might go all the way to Gaylord if Mike is agreeable. The arrangements can be made when we know the group and the drivers. As always the first positions will go to those who have participated in this adventure. Send in your $50 and get yourself psyched for the 2002 Trip; it will be time to leave sooner than you think. Does this come with age or do the young and foolish feel the same way?

Wishing tight lines and firm hook ups,
David and Scott
